

ASTROGATOR

The spaceships astrogator will serve as an automatic pilot for the space travelers during their five and a half year voyage. It contains a navigational guidance system and spectroscope which, along with the space crafts electronic brain, can pilot the ship from launch to landing. A control panel (see inset) features a joystick and override controls which allow the pilot to make any manual maneuvers that may be necessary.